FROM THE CEO

DOUG ALLEN
Chief Executive Officer
Virginia Railway Express

VRE is working to provide you the best travel value we can. The system investments we are making now and in the future will assure you continue to receive a high quality, safe, and hopefully, enjoyable commuter rail experience. To improve your commute to work each day, I'd like to tell you about some of the projects we are planning or implementing over the next year that are significant.

We have just placed in service eight new railcars over the past four months and ordered 12 more which will allow us to replace all legacy cars and expand service. This means more seats for you and adds-up to a more comfortable ride. Over the next couple of months we are repainting the Manassas Park, Rippon, Brooke, Quantico, Rolling Road and Crystal City stations.

Later this year, we will add a new train on the Fredericksburg Line. This new train will provide much needed capacity expansion and allow riders greater scheduling flexibility in their commute.

Early in 2015, VRE will begin pilot testing and then roll-out new mobile ticketing software that will allow riders to purchase and validate VRE tickets using their smart phones or tablets. We are very excited to bring this service to your fingertips. Mobile ticketing will be integrated with your SmartBenefits, and will allow you to purchase tickets anywhere, at any time.

Next year, look for continued station improvements and the extension of the Fredericksburg Line train to Spotsylvania where a new station, third track and 1,500 space parking lot is being built. All these improvements take time and resources but lead to a better commute for you. Thank you for your support and for riding VRE.

Meet VRE’s Customer Communications Staff

We know that usually the first VRE representatives you meet on the train are the Keolis conductors and engineers. They are our front line employees, and are some of the very best, we agree! But there is another group of professional and hard-working employees behind the scenes at VRE headquarters who are just as important. They are the VRE Customer Communications team. You have probably spoken to one or more of them on the phone, communicated with them through e-mail or received a written communication from them through Train Talk, Twitter or Facebook.

Together, they make up the team that handles Lost and Found, ticket replacements, telephone inquiries, gotrains@vre.org, VRE’s web site, Facebook page and Twitter accounts as well as Train Talk, our e-mail message system. They also are responsible for court citations and dates, undercover law enforcement officers, group tickets, and a host of other tasks.

“Working for Customer Communications is really like working for the passengers. We’re here to support them and ensure they have a well informed and pleasant commute.”  – Jennifer Young

Brenda Thompson has been with VRE for 12 years and one of her many duties is managing the Lost and Found Department. When asked what some of the strangest items were that have turned up in Lost and Found, she replied, “Somebody left their x-rays once, and one time a person forgot their suitcase.” We have also had some wedding rings show up. Luckily, VRE’s Lost and Found Department has an 85-90 percent return rate.

One of the misconceptions that many people have about VRE is that we have a large call center. There are only two people answering the phones at any one time and they consist of the CCS staff rotating through their shifts.

“We do get some crazy questions and we get a lot of them,” says Jennifer Young; “Some questions don’t even have anything to do with VRE, but we do our best to answer them or at least direct them to the proper agency.” “Working for Customer Communications is really like working for the passengers,” they all agree. “We’re here to support them and ensure they have a well informed and pleasant commute.”
MEET MATTHEW KELLY

By Jennifer Buske

Fredericksburg resident Matthew Kelly used to travel I-95 often, visiting his family in Alexandria and his girlfriend, now wife, while attending Mary Washington College.

“It was a quick and easy trip, not like today. Now, clogged roadways and traffic make the trip two-plus hours and it is having a detrimental effect on business opportunities, tourism and the shops in the city of Fredericksburg”, he said.

“Transportation is the biggest issue that faces our region and we’re looking at doubling our population in the next 20 years,” adding, “It will only get worse. When you are a tourism town like us, people need to be able to move around.”

Kelly has been involved in regional transportation issues since 2002 when he was elected to the Fredericksburg City Council. He currently serves on the Virginia Railway Express Operations Board, the executive board of the Potomac and Rappahannock Transportation Commission and the Fredericksburg Area Metropolitan Planning Organization policy committee.

VRE’s Fredericksburg station has been in place long before the commuter-rail service began. The station was, and still is, utilized by Amtrak, but now also serves as a regional hub for commuters, attracting riders from Spotsylvania and Caroline counties and as far south as Richmond.

Since joining the VRE Operations Board, Kelly has been involved in several projects including the decision to bring Keolis Rail Services America on as the new operator of the commuter rail service. He also helped change the funding formula for participating jurisdictions and watched as VRE replaced all its locomotives and improved on-time performance.

“I’ve seen VRE come a long way,” he said. “When I sat in my first VRE meeting, our on-time performance was in the low eighties, maybe even seventies. Today we have a consistent on-time performance record. I’ve seen, even in a short period of time, a lot of improvement in the service.”

Moving forward, Kelly wants to see VRE expand service, which means addressing the storage issue of where to put longer or new trains. While some have talked about adding weekend service, Kelly said it is important to focus on weekdays first because, “First and foremost this is a commuter rail service and we need to keep our ties up to Washington and business opportunities.” But, he would like to do occasional weekend trains to draw people in for special events like the Firecracker train that brought people into Washington, D.C. for Fourth of July.

When he is not addressing the region’s transportation issues or serving on City Council, Kelly is active in the preservation community. He does archaeological work and Civil War reenactments with the 28th Massachusetts Infantry. Kelly also enjoys spending time with his wife, children and grandchildren.

“I’ve seen VRE come a long way. When I sat in my first VRE meeting, our on-time performance was in the low eighties, maybe even seventies. Today we have a consistent on-time performance record. I’ve seen, even in a short period of time, a lot of improvement in the service.”

GET READY FOR CLIFTON DAY!

DON’T MISS THE 47TH ANNUAL CLIFTON DAY FESTIVAL SCHEDULED FOR SUNDAY, OCTOBER 12TH

Come enjoy great food, live music, a train ride and other family-friendly activities when the town of Clifton puts on Clifton Day, an annual festival held in one of Northern Virginia’s most beautiful and historic areas. This year’s event is on Sunday, October 12 from 9 am until 5 pm.

Around 150 antique dealers, artists, bakers and other street vendors will line the town’s streets. Live bands, horseback rides, craft demonstrations, children’s activities, a Civil War reenactment and a wide selection of food and beverage choices will add to the fun.

Clifton Day is the only day of the year when the train stops in the town. Festival goers can take the Virginia Railway Express (VRE), which will provide roundtrip train service to Clifton from all stops between Manassas and Rolling Road. The train ride to Clifton is free and the return trip costs $5 per person (children under age two ride free).

“This is Clifton Day’s 47th year, which is amazing,” said event chair Barbara Hutto. “The event’s longevity is a testament to how much people enjoy bringing their families to spend a fun fall day in Clifton.”

The 2014 festival, hosted by the Clifton Betterment Association (CBA), will distribute its proceeds to several nonprofit organizations such as the Girl and Boy Scouts, Clifton Lions Club, the CBA, Aca-cia Lodge and Clifton Presbyterian Church.

“Clifton Day attracts several thousand people throughout the D.C. area and beyond,” said CBA president Michelle Stein. “The town of Clifton appreciates the many talented volunteers who dedicate the time and skills required to manage this event.”

Sponsors include The Peterson Family Foundation, Ourisman Fairfax Toyota; Concise, LLC; Norfolk Southern; VRE; and Keolis. Admission is free. Parking starts at five dollars per car.

“Clifton Day’s 47th year, which is amazing,” said event chair Barbara Hutto. “The event’s longevity is a testament to how much people enjoy bringing their families to spend a fun fall day in Clifton.”

KEEPING YOUR VRE TICKET SECURE

You hear it all the time: “Have your tickets out for the conductor to check while on board the train.” Of course, having it out sometimes results in passengers leaving them behind and we know that can be a costly mistake. So we’d like to offer you some tips to help protect your investment:

➤ FIRST: Put your name and phone number on all your tickets! When recovered tickets come into our office, the first thing we do is check to see if it has a name and number on it. If that information is on the ticket, those calls are made first! This is the one sure way to distinguish one passenger’s ticket from another’s.

➤ SECOND: Report your lost ticket to our office. You can either submit a lost ticket report on our website or call us directly. We’ll ask you questions designed to help us identify your ticket from others that are turned in.

➤ THIRD: Try to keep your ticket attached to something you keep on you or with you. A lanyard is usually a good option but it’s not fool proof. We recover tickets with clips and lanyards almost as frequently as loose tickets.

➤ ONE OTHER TIP: VRE has a good lost and found program; but it can take a day or two for recovered tickets to get back to our Alexandria staff and until that time, you are responsible for having a valid ticket while riding.
SPOTLIGHT ON KEOLIS

MEET LANCE TILMON

The saying goes, “Once a Marine, always a Marine,” and Lance Tilmon, Yard Manager at Crossroads on the Fredericksburg line, lives up to that motto in his management and actions. From coast to coast across the States, to Portugal, the Bahamas and Okinawa, Tilmon traveled frequently as a Marine. However, while on duty he still managed to secure his undergraduate degree and Master’s in Business Administration from the University of Phoenix. After 22 years in the Marines Corp, Master Sergeant Tilmon retired looking for a different experience. “The Marines were the best years of my life, but I wanted to see if I could succeed in the private sector.”

Tilmon first worked for Pepsi for two years and then with Norfolk Southern. After five years with Norfolk Southern, Tilmon left the company for VRE. His years as a Marine combined with his experience on the railroad helped prepare him for his leadership position with VRE. “Those (experiences) helped open my eyes for how to lead people and made me a better person.”

Sunday through Thursday you can find Tilmon and his crew of 15 in the Crossroads yard working on the 60 cars and 11 locomotives that make up the Fredericksburg line. Tilmon and the crew are responsible for maintaining each train consist and car, ensuring they are in peak condition for use during the workday commute Monday through Friday.

Another Marine Corp motto is “doing that thing which is right, when no one is looking.” From braking systems to wheels, signals to communications, drive-trains and everything in between, Tilmon’s team are the people behind the scenes that make the equipment safe to use. “It’s all about the customers, and the families that ride these trains. It’s our job to provide safe and reliable trains that are punctual.”

No matter the job, Tilmon strives to be the best of the best. By the time this article is printed he will have celebrated the wedding of his daughter and will be back in the yard. When riding or working on the VRE, don’t forget to give a special salute to Master Sergeant Tilmon and his crew for working to keep the VRE safe!
